

Write your own story!
at Obsedian.Space

In Today's fast paced environment and competitive world there's literally no scope if your communication skills are not top notch!

Better start today!

Take a small step at a time and loose yourself free in the ocean of learning and creativity.

Personality development

Here's a commitment you can make to yourself to do things which improves your mental aptitude. Every single day you must add or cultivate a new idea in the form of a new skill. Practice and repeat until you find the perfection!

Add a New chapter to your life at Obsidian.Space!

We are here with a message. A huge shout out to students to play their part in improving themselves and their society! Learning is an art! We will polish your skills to make your life shine brighter than before.

Obsidian. Space –
Your personal space for learning and growth

The Broken Pot (Short Story) -

A man lived in a small hut. He used to two pots to bring water back into his house from the nearby well. One of the pots had a small hole. The man would always hold the pot with the hole in his left hand. By the time the man reached the house, the pot on the right would still be full and the pot on his left would be always half full,

One of the neighbour's kid observed this and asked the man why he using a broken pot. The man smiled and said, "There are two reasons for this. My left hand is a bit weak and I can't carry the whole pot of water in my left hand. The other reason is that the path gets watered when i bring back the water."

He pointed to the path and sure enough, one side of the walkway was green and flowering plants and the other side was barren."

Moral of the story:

This story teaches us that everything has its uses. We might think of something as useless because it is flawed, but then it serves a bigger purpose in the universe

Listen to the voice in yourself!

It might be difficult to make the right choice for your carrier. At Obsedian we will design more than a carrier for you. We will give you skills and you will design a destiny of your dreams!

Make learning your personal habit!

Learning was never about adding bulk of information. It is about extracting wisdom from your intake of education. Society is in peril because they make moves based on their mind. Think deep before reaching any conclusion! Be stern

Destress yourself

Learn and let your dreams make you fly higher.

“Become the best version of yourself”

Love what you do!

There are unlimited options in front of you. We will show you the light to get the best out of yourself!

Join Us -

Join Us and we help to join the magnificent picture of your dream life become a reality!

Contact – Obsidian Team – Atif - Salman & Areeb

Our Motto – We paint colors to your life!